

METHOD FOR LEVELING AND COATING A SUBSTRATE AND AN ARTICLE FORMED THEREBY

A method for providing a level surface onto which a metallic coating may be applied is provided. Articles formed using the method are also provided. The method involves leveling the surface of a substrate by applying an electrophoresis polymeric coating following by a physical vapor deposition of a metallic coating.